Shawnee Forest Grants Leases for Oil and Minerals

OUR SHAWNEE NATIONAL FOREST: The Shawnee National Forest in Illinois is doing about as well, financially, under the ground, as above the ground, where the trees are.

I went up to E. N. Lee's office on the third floor of the Harrisburg National bank building with such a theory in mind, and it was correct. I got a lot of information from Mr. Lee, who is supervisor of the Shawnee National Forest, about leasing of government lands for mining and drilling with a profit to the U. S.

The Shawnee Forest covers thousands of acres of land in both Illinois and Missouri, but we'll stick to Illinois.

In Illinois there are 210,000 acres of government land, but the government doesn't own all the mineral rights. It owns a lot but there are instances that when the government bought parcels of land, the rights were either outstanding to third parties or were reserved by parties who sold to the government.

On lands where the government has mineral rights, the minerals can be mined, and there can be drilling for oil.

Individuals or companies can get two types of permits for mining. One is for leases for drilling for oil and gas, Mr. Lee pointed out.

The permits and leases issued are not under the administration of the Forest Service office, he explained, but permits must be obtained from the Bureau of Land Management, Department of Interior, Washington 25, D. C. No special form is used in making application, but a letter specifying what will be mined must be sent in duplicate.

When the application is processed in Washington, the Bureau sends out one form to the Forest Service, which comes here for a checking of records and making of recommendations, and another goes to either the Gas and Oil division or the Mineral Division of the U. S. Geological Survey where a check is made and a report is made back to the Bureau of Land Management, where permits and leases are issued. The Gas and Oil division is at Tulsa, Okla., the Mineral division at Miami, Okla.

There are two permits given for mining. One is a prospecting permit, at a fee of 25 cents per acre per year renewable on application and with a condition that the receiver pay for any timber removed and for any damage done.

In case mineable substances are found in commercial quantity, the area is checked by the U. S. Geological Survey and a mining permit is issued with the restrictions listed. The royalty to be paid the government for minerals or oil and gas is determined by the geological survey.

Mr. Lee said that about all the government land in Illinois is under lease for oil and gas drilling. Leases are for five years and can be renewed if there is production in paying quantities. The annual rental per acre is 50 cents per acre the first year, when the area is outside of the known geological structure of an oil and gas field, and the price varies after that. If it is in a known field the price is a dollar an acre with a royalty of

Marilyn Monroe, DiMaggio Face Damage Suit

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Actress Marilyn Monroe and her former husband, Joe DiMaggio, will go on trial Monday in a $6,000 damage suit filed against them because of a traffic accident involving Miss Monroe.

The suit, for $3,000 against the actress and $3,000 against DiMaggio, was filed Aug. 30, 1954, by physical instructor Bart A. Antinora, 35, North Hollywood. He claimed Miss Monroe's Cadillac convertible rammed the rear of his MG sports car May 21, 1954, while he waited for a red light.

Antinora's attorney, Fred J. Martino, said DiMaggio was named only because the car was registered to him. He said the former Yankee Clipper was not served and would not testify.

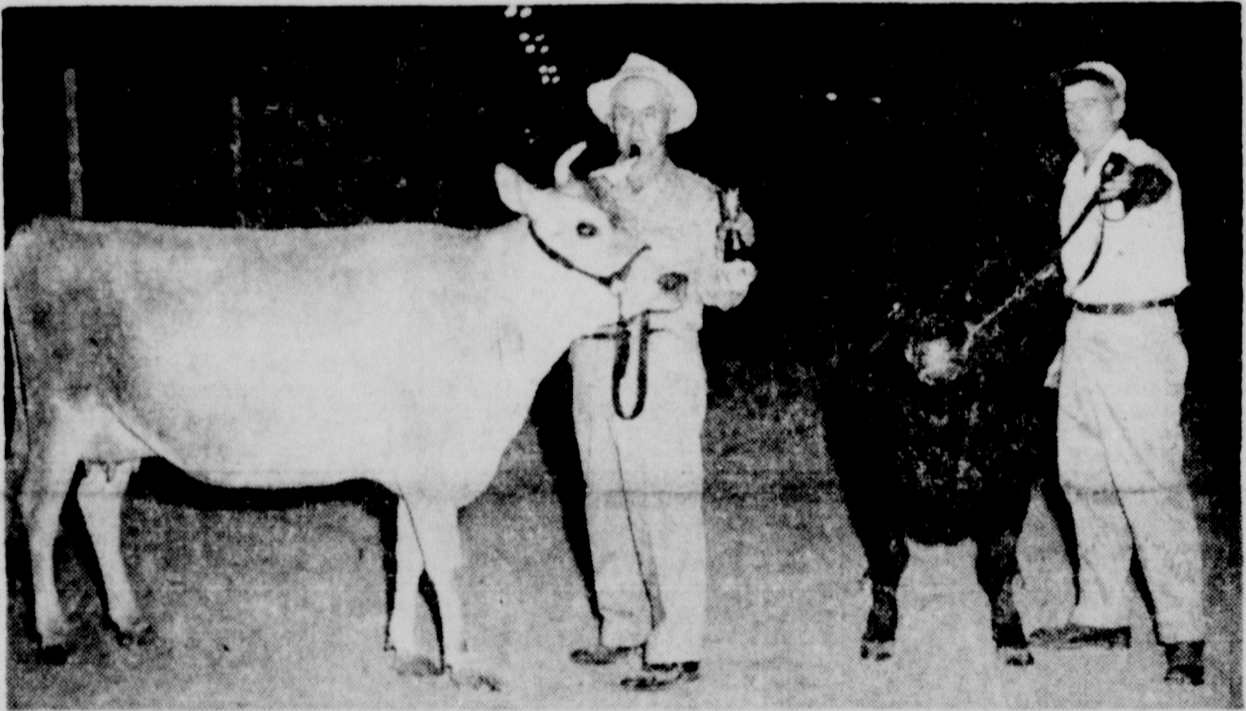

Miss Monroe's attorneys said she was not expected to appear at the Municipal Court trial, but said her testimony would be presented thru deposition taken in New York.

Miss Saline County Will Be Crowned as Fair Ends Tonight

The Saline county fair comes to a mighty conclusion tonight when Miss Saline County of 1955 will be named to reign until fair time next summer.

Yesterday afternoon and last night fair-goers saw a splendid animal show, with another excellent crowd on hand for the night performance. It was Gene Holter's animal variety show and the crowd liked it. Besides the performances by trained animals, there were ostrich and camel races with local men participating, and an animal polo game, with Harrisburg boys taking part.

In another feature, members of the fair board rode Babe, five-ton elephant.

Last night's show opened with a parade of blue ribbon livestock. Tonight's event is formally called the Saline County Beauty Pageant and Automobile show. Eighteen lovely girls will vie for the honor of being Miss Saline County of 1955 and the finest of automobiles of local dealers will be paraded before the grandstand.

Disinterested out-of-town judges will be on hand to judge the girls on a point system. Girls first will parade in formal, after which will be the automobile show. Then the dozen and a half will appear in bathing attire.

First winner of this annual beauty event sponsored by the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce was Miss Joan Keith, Harrisburg, now Mrs. John VanderPlum, who won in 1949. In 1950 Miss Jo Spears of Carrier Mills, now Mrs. Tommy Gilchrist, was the winner. The queen in 1951 was Miss Susie Baker of Harrisburg. In 1952 she was Miss Cynthia Hancock, Harrisburg, now Mrs. David Guard. Miss Peggy Black of Eldorado won in 1953 and Miss Eugenia Gollhofer of Harrisburg in 1954. Miss Gollhofer will

Endicotts Learn of Son's Accident; Cut Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Endicott, on a vacation trip through the West, were informed this morning of the accident that took the life of Harold Holden and seriously injured their son, Robert Endicott. The Endicotts had not been contacted about the accident, but Mr. Endicott made a call from Montana to his home here to see how things were getting along, and was told of the motor crash that occurred early Wednesday on Route 37 near Cypress in Johnson county. Their other son, Tom Endicott, talked with his father and said that his parents planned to start home today, cutting their trip short. Tom Endicott also said that although his brother was seriously hurt, it is now believed that he will get along all right. Robert is in St. Mary's hospital in Cairo.

Tropical Storm Builds Up to Hurricane Power

MIAMI, Fla. — A tropical storm in the Atlantic built up to roaring hurricane strength today with a wind velocity estimated at 125 miles an hour.

The Miami Weather Bureau said the fast-moving storm was headed west-northwest through the Atlantic 325 miles northeast of the island of Antigua. It still was far off the Atlantic seaboard but the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico were warned to be on the alert for possible hurricane warnings later today or tonight.

Hurricane hunter planes found the big blow whose name was "Connie."

The storm has reached full hurricane strength, the daring plane crew reported back to shore stations.

Probe Cause of Airliner Crash With 30 Killed

Falls in Flames in Emergency Landing
At Fort Leonard Wood

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. — The fumes of 30 persons killed in the flaming crash of an American Airlines twin-engine Convair stood by today, waiting for the bodies of the victims to be identified so they could claim them.

At the same time, officials of the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the airline poked among the ashes of the charred wreckage in an effort to learn what caused the plane to crash. All of the bodies were recovered.

The plane crashed Thursday while attempting an emergency landing with an engine in flames on the airstrip of this big Army installation. It lost a wing and fell, a half mile short, into a ravine of hickory and tangled vines.

Capt. R. D. Sinex, Army public information officer, said it was the right wing that burned off. He said the pilot, Capt. Hugh C. Barron, of Macon, Ga., was making a perfect approach. A few seconds more, he said, and Barron would have made it.

Seconds before, the plane had passed, at 200 feet, over an on-post housing development where the families of military personnel lived. Sinex said "hundreds" lived along the path and it fell three miles beyond the housing area.

Unable To Extinguish Blaze
The plane, carrying 27 passengers and a crew of three, had just taken off a short time before from Springfield, Mo. Twenty-one of the passengers had gone aboard. The plane was en route from Tulsa to New York City, at Springfield.

Shortly after taking off, Barron radioed the Springfield tower that his No. 2 right engine was on fire and he was unable to extinguish the blaze.

Sinex arrived at the scene about 20 minutes after the plane had crashed. He said the plane was "nothing but a bunch of ash and molten metal."

"It could hardly be recognized as a plane," he said.

Two or three of the passengers were thrown out 25 or 30 feet from the plane. The others for the most part were "just piled up," Sinex said.

"He didn't clip off any trees or anything. The wing fell off. Then the plane just plunged into the ground. The area it covered wasn't any bigger than your living room."

"When I got there it was burning like hades. There wasn't anything we could do about going in to the plane. When we finally did get things so we could bring fire trucks in, the fire had pretty well burned itself out," Sinex said.

Pilot in Fatal Crash Had Survived Two Emergencies

TULSA, Okla. — The pilot of the American Airlines plane which crashed Thursday at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., survived two previous air emergencies in the last year. He died in this, the third one.

Capt. Hugh C. Barron of Macon, Ga., was killed along with two other crew members and 27 passengers.

Last November Barron safely belly-landed an American Airlines plane at Glenview Naval Air Station near Chicago when the landing gears jammed. All aboard, including Mrs. William Stratton, the wife of the Illinois governor, escaped injury.

Early this year one engine on a plane he was flying stopped between Tulsa and Oklahoma City. Barron made an emergency landing at a small Cushing, Okla., airport.

Barron was a veteran of 15,000 air hours for American. When airline officials learned of his death, one said:

"It is a cinch no one could have brought in the plane if Barron didn't make it."

The 45-year-old pilot was the father of four children. His wife and two sons, Don, 17, and William, 15, live in Tulsa. Another son, Hugh Jr., is a pilot for another airline. A daughter, Margaret, 25, lives in Memphis.

Eisenhower Surprise Offer On Arms Inspection Plans Leaves Next Move to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States officials said today President Eisenhower's surprise offer to combine American and Soviet arms inspection plans leaves it up to Russia to make the next move toward world disarmament.

Officials said the combination offer may be included in new formal U. S. disarmament proposals to be made to Russia and other major powers during the next 10 weeks.

President Eisenhower made public Thursday for the first time that the Geneva conference of his readiness to broaden his own unprecedented offer to exchange military blueprints and aerial photo facilities with the Soviet Union. He made the statement at his news conference a short time after Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin called the President's proposal not as realistic as the Soviet one.

Mr. Eisenhower said he had told Bulganin, during private chats at Geneva, that the United States would be willing to accept Russia's May 10, 1955, inspection system proposal to his own plan.

The Russian plan would set up an international control agency to check against dangerous concentration of troops and supplies at big ports, railway junctions, roads and airports.

"Sneaking informally at Geneva, I said if they trusted that kind of an inspection system it was all right with us, we would adopt both," the President said, "and I proposed, let's take them both."

The President's words prompted some optimism that the Russians still might agree to wed the two proposals despite Bulganin's statement that the "effectiveness" of the President's proposal on blueprints and photos "would not be great."

"I don't understand that the Premier (Bulganin) has closed the door, and I merely say we are ready to accept and examine any kind of system that looks fair to us and to both sides," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Experts on disarmament gave this picture of how the president came to propose combining the two inspection systems:

At the Geneva conference, Mr. Eisenhower said arms control should be considered by seeking "dependable ways to supervise and inspect military establishments so that there can be no frightful surprises, whether by sudden attack or by secret violation of agreed restrictions." He followed this up by his proposal for swapping military blueprints and exchanging aerial photo facilities.

The President told the Russian leaders privately that the United States was seriously interested in reaching an understanding in the inspection-disarmament field with the Soviet Union. He told the Russians that he had assigned Harold

Says Russia Will Study Plan By Eisenhower

Soviet Premier Says Report of Rejection Erroneous

MOSCOW — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin told the Russian parliament Supreme Soviet today that he has not slammed the door on President Eisenhower's proposal for mutual military inspections in the interests of peace.

He told the final session of the two-day parliamentary session that Russia is prepared to examine the American chief executive's plan, even though, as Bulganin said Thursday, he feels it could have "no great, real effectiveness."

In his opening speech to the parliament Thursday, Bulganin said Mr. Eisenhower's plan for a mutual exchange of military and arms secrets and mutual aerial reconnaissance was unworkable.

Today the Soviet premier charged that certain newspapers, presumably Western, had "erroneously" drawn the conclusion that this meant the Soviet Union would flatly refuse to even consider the American proposal.

He elaborated today in a final speech to the Supreme Soviet in the Kremlin, after the top Russian legislative body had voted unanimous approval of the actions of the Soviet delegation at the Big Four summit conference at Geneva.

Bulganin said that "contrary to the erroneous reports" of Soviet rejection of the Eisenhower plan, the Soviet Union would examine the President's proposals "with all appropriate seriousness."

Then, in a precedent-shattering move outside the Supreme Soviet, Bulganin invited all heads of diplomatic missions in Moscow to his summer villa at Semenovka, in Moscow's suburbs, next Sunday, for a day in the country.

The invitation was the first of its kind ever issued to diplomats here by a Soviet government head.

Bulganin said a lunch, which undoubtedly would be lavish, will be served, followed by swimming, boating and fishing.

Not only the ambassadors and ministers, but their wives and children were invited.

PARIS — French Premier Edgar Faure announced today that he and his foreign minister, Antoine Pinay, will visit Moscow at the beginning of October, to help extend the cold war thaw begun at Geneva.

Station Wagon, Truck Collide

A truck driven by Bobby Dean Walters, 23, McLeansboro, and a station wagon operated by Charles N. Givens, 30, Eldorado, collided on Route 142 three miles north of Eldorado this morning but neither person was injured.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat said that both vehicles were traveling toward Eldorado and the collision occurred when the truck pulled over into the left lane to make a right turn as Givens started to go around him.

The station wagon was badly damaged.

At 3 p. m. yesterday an auto in which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnett of Stonefort were riding hit the corner of a parked truck as the auto turned left off of Route 43 at the road leading into Carrier Mills, struck utility poles, then hit the O'Keefe building. Mrs. Barnett was brought to the Harrisburg hospital in a Thornton ambulance, suffering a back injury.

The Barnett auto was badly damaged.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
And when his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren they hated him. — Gen. 37:4.

Envy, hatred and murder are only degrees in the same attitude. Jealousy is unworthy of decent people. Yet the world is too full of it. Abhor it.

Act of Friendship?

Editorial — By BRUCE BISSAT
If the Communists expect to convince the free world that they want to ease East-West tensions, they'll have to do a better job of transmitting the message to their own trigger-happy rank and file. Bulgaria's shooting down of an Israeli airliner at a cost of 50 lives is hardly the course of peace.

The Bulgarians' official regrets are no recompense. Nor will it satisfy if they now offer indemnity to the airline, El Al Israel, and the families of the victims.

What is really called for is a new attitude compounded less of barbarism and more of elemental humanity. And if a new outlook is to mean anything, it must extend from the Kremlin down to the lowliest peasant soldier manning a satellite anti-aircraft post.

The official Bulgarian story of this incident is instructive. The Bulgarians say the Israeli plane, a U. S.-made Constellation, was flying off course over Bulgarian soil. This may well have been, since Greek border observers nearby tend to confirm this.

But then the Reds go on to say that their anti-aircraft defense was unable to identify the plane. They claim a "few warnings" were given, after which the craft was fired upon and brought down.

Now aircraft identification is as fundamental to air defense as anything can be. The man who doesn't know his plane silhouettes has no place on a defense line. And the Lockheed Constellation is by all odds one of the commonest sights on Europe's and the world's airways. With its famed triple-stabilizer at the tail section, it is also one of the easiest planes to identify from the ground.

If the Bulgarian defenders could see the plane well enough to tell that it wasn't one of theirs, they should have been able to observe that it was a Constellation. And from that they should have quickly surmised it was a commercial ship bent only on peaceful pursuits.

What were the "warnings" the defenders offered? Most likely a few preliminary anti-aircraft bursts wide of the mark. To be effective as warnings, they would have had to be followed by a quiet interval giving the plane time to head back across the border. No evidence yet known suggests the doomed craft was given such a respite from attack.

The truth seems to be that Communist gunners shoot first and think afterwards, if at all. They do not appear to care what kind of plane comes within their range.

Despite many protestations to the contrary in recent times, the Communists evidently are determined to delay indefinitely their entry into the human society.

The Sideshow

The 1955 silly season was enriched by two remarkable entries that came in the aftermath of the Geneva conference.

One was Vice President Nixon's insistence that umbrellas be kept out of sight on the rainy Sunday when President Eisenhower came home to Washington for fear this symbol of pre-World War II appeasement would somehow be linked with the newest Big Four meeting.

The other was the protest of an official of the National Association of Doll Manufacturers, who didn't like it because Mr. Eisenhower brought home some Swiss dolls for his grandchildren.

Matters like this can pose a real dilemma. The only way out of it that we can see at the moment is to have the irritated dollmakers ship one of their dolls to Nixon. But it had better not be one holding a parasol.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Alert Congressmen Flag Texas Insurance Company Bonanza: The Appointed Judge To Serve On Court Which Rebuked Him: Eisenhower Cabled Optimistic Report On His Work At Geneva.

WASHINGTON. — The period during a congressional session when the public is most likely to get rooked the most is during the mad rush to close, when the solons are anxious to get home. The newspapers and public-minded senators don't always have time to watch these sneak bills, and some lobbyists deliberately wait until the last days of Congress to shove them through.

Therefore, credit should go to Senators Olin Johnston of South Carolina and Tom Hennings of Missouri, together with Representatives Jack Brooks of Texas and E. L. Forrester of Georgia, for blocking a big insurance company raid on the treasury in regard to the Texas City, Texas, explosion.

Senator Price Daniel of Texas had sponsored a Senate bill which would have reimbursed $41,200,000 to the insurance companies which paid damages in the Texas City explosion; plus about $50,000,000 to Monsanto Chemical — despite the fact that the highest courts had found the U. S. government was not to blame for the explosion of nitrate in the Texas City harbor.

However, Congressman Brooks blocked the bill in the House. He urged that small claimants be reimbursed but that the insurance companies who had assumed a business risk not be paid at the expense of the taxpayer.

In the conference committee between the House and Senate, Senators Johnson and Hennings backed him up. They knocked out the windfalls to the insurance companies and Monsanto Chemical but left in payments up to $25,000 to those who suffered from the explosion and had not received insurance.

Senator Daniel, who has been the faithful champion of big business in Texas, refused to sign the conference report.

KE STRADDLED
Note—The Eisenhower administration put itself on both sides in the Texas City disaster. It sided vigorously against Senator Daniel and against payments to the insurance companies. On the other hand, Eisenhower appointed to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals John Brown, the Houston attorney who tried the Texas City claims case and was rebuked by the same 5th Circuit Court of Appeals on which he will now serve.

Brown was shown to have changed the bills of lading on the nitrate shipments after the explosion so as to make it appear that the government was remiss in labeling the cargo. The U. S. courts, right up to the Supreme Court, found against and held that the U. S. government was in no way to blame.

Whereupon Senator Daniel introduced a bill to do what the courts refused to do. Whereupon also President Eisenhower appointed the defeated lawyer, John Brown, to the court of appeals which had rebuked him.

WHITE HOUSE REVERSES
During the closing days of Congress the name of ex-Congressman John S. Woods of Georgia was quietly withdrawn for appointment to the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Woods had been ok'd by the White House, had been cleared by the FBI after an investigation, and had been approved by a subcommittee of the Judiciary committee.

However, when it was revealed in the press that the ex-congressman from Georgia had introduced a bill to compensate a boy hit by an Army truck for which his administrative assistant had taken a fee of $1,000, Senate opposition developed. Neither a Congressman nor his staff is supposed to benefit in any way from the introduction of legislation.

Woods was up for appointment to one of the most important semi-judicial bodies in government, the Subversive Control Board, which decides which organization in the U. S. are Communist, Fascist and subversive. Yet Woods had been appointed to this key post obviously without careful investigation.

In the end, the White House decided it was better that his name be withdrawn.

KE'S OWN REPORT
Thousands of words have been published regarding the results of the "Summit" conference by this and other writers. However, the most interesting summation is probably that given confidentially by President Eisenhower himself.

It was dictated by him in Geneva, cabled to Washington, marked secret and has not hitherto been published.

Since the Geneva conference is now over, and since the American public has a great stake in its result, there can be no harm in letting the public read it. Here is the Eisenhower cable, word for word, as he dictated it:

"The usual gulf between the position of the Soviet and the western world is, of course, noticeable here at Geneva. The biggest

"On the side of practical accomplishment, they seem to us to be more intent on establishing a recognition of the status quo in Europe than they do any real attempt to improve that status, although they do, of course, give lip service to at least the problems of German reunification. My impression is that in stressing the need for gradual and slow approach to that problem they are really hoping that time will work for them in creating an acceptance of the status quo and possibly weakening of western German ties with the West. This, of course, we can never accept."

"In the matter of encouraging an interchange of visitors and information cross the border, the Soviets appear to be sincerely favorable. This, of course, may be only a temporary technique to convince us of the friendliness of their current attitude, but they have nevertheless given some evidence of sincerity by the extent with which they have issued invitations. "We are, of course, not expecting any great results, but we continue to be hopeful that some practical progress will be achieved."

Stratton, President Differ on Invitation To Governors' Meeting

CHICAGO — An invitation to President Eisenhower to attend the Governors' Conference here next week has provoked different reactions from the President and Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton.

At his news conference Thursday, Mr. Eisenhower said he didn't think there were any plans for him to visit the Governors' Conference and there had been no conferring with the governors about it.

But Stratton produced a carbon copy of a letter which he said was mailed to the President July 15 and which read in part:

"May I suggest you or the vice president representing you consider appearing at any of the sessions which might suit your convenience?"

Stratton also said he had phoned the White House when he was in Washington about three months ago and discussed the matter with one of Mr. Eisenhower's staff.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower says the United States is standing firmly against any change in its long-standing policy of opposing recognition of Red China despite current U. S. Communist Chinese talks in Geneva.

He told a news conference Thursday that the United States has no alternative but to withhold recognition "as long as Red China is branded as an aggressor by the United Nations."

This apparently also refers to continued American opposition to seating Communist China in the United Nations.

A twin goal of the Peiping regime long has been U. S. recognition and a seat in the United Nations.

The question of a possible shift in U. S. policy arose when a reporter noted that the United States and Red China seem to be acting more cordially toward each other at the current Geneva meeting than in the past. He asked the President if that meant the United States was getting ready to shift its policy of withholding recognition.

Mr. Eisenhower replied, "Now, several times I have stated that as long as Red China is branded as an aggressor by the United Nations, which it still is due to the fact that its armies are in North Korea, we have no choice of our own, and I don't know how the United Nations has a choice of its own. There are other outstanding complaints which I have outlined time and again, and I have no idea that under existing circumstances there would be a change of the kind you indicated in our policy."

Both American and foreign diplomats recognize, nevertheless, that pressure for recognition and seating of Red China in the United Nations is building up. They said that pressure could mount still further if Red China should make sweeping concessions to the United States in the Geneva talks.

Death Has 3 Lives

XXXIII

Joe Agnew had his key-ring out as he approached the garage, and in the moonlight selected the flat key to the padlock on the door.

He stopped and frowned when he found it wasn't even locked. Now that was funny. He always locked it when he put the taxi up at night. Long as he could remember, he'd never forgotten to lock it before.

Well, maybe he had been a little excited about calling the police and all, he conceded as he opened the double doors wide and got under the steering wheel.

Yeh, That must have been it. He'd been going over in his mind the story he would tell Irma. Sort of building it up a little bit, maybe, to make it sound more important than it really was. But that was just to please Irma. She always waited for him no matter how late he was, and was always interesting him to tell her all the interesting things that had happened to him that day. She never could get it out of her head that harking was just like any other kind of work. She'd ask him what important people he'd carried, how pretty were the women and did any of them make passes or invite him into their houses for a drink when he took them home.

And generally he couldn't think of anything much to tell her, but last night had been different and he'd been full of it when he put the taxi up and went in.

He was so full of remembering about it now as he backed the cab out of the driveway to the street that he didn't pay any attention to the dark automobile parked inconspicuously at the curb half a block away.

Joe's sixth sense was a little lacking when he failed to note that the parked car pulled away from the curb without headlights and swung in behind him as he turned the first corner.

But he was too full of thinking about how he had finally had something interesting to tell Irma, and how he'd added on a few touches to make it sound like he'd been smarter than the police.

She'd listened to the embellished story with open-mouthed admiration, too, making him out to be some kind of hero for reporting it to the police and all, and even wondering if there mightn't be a reward for him if the girl-killer was caught as a result of his quick-thinking.

He'd discouraged that idea, but now he remembered the interview with the skinny reporter and the famous detective and how the reporter had promised to write up a story all about him maybe put in, too, how he was on call at home at night if anybody needed a cab special. If he did put that in the paper, Joe Agnew reasoned happily, thousands of people would read about it and as a consequence there might be a lot more calls like this one in the future.

Maybe he'd even be able to build up a sort of special clientele in time, so he could really be in business on his own and not have to split with a company.

By that time he was on Biscayne Boulevard speeding smoothly northward with no traffic to think about, so he day-dreamed happily on to a volume that required him to put on a whole fleet of cabs, and with very special and trustworthy drivers, of course. Fellows like him who had a sort of sixth sense about certain things you might say, because he would build the reputation of his company on that sort of special service and he'd take mighty good care that any driver working for him was absolutely discreet and could be trusted to do a job like this one tonight and never open his mouth about it. No sir.

Woman Sues Actor Sonny Tufts

HOLLYWOOD — Actor Sonny Tufts, twice sued by dancers for biting them on the thigh, was accused in a $10,000 damage suit today of beating a 22-year-old woman and pinching her on the "upper thigh."

Mrs. Adriene Forman, of North Hollywood, charged in her suit filed Thursday that the actor struck, beat and bruised her in a Studio City, Calif., restaurant last July 27, causing her serious and permanent injuries.

Her attorneys said Tufts brought his meal over to Mrs. Forman's table, sat down uninvited and "began to annoy her." They said the actor "ran his hand up her leg and pinched her on the upper thigh."

The Army has five forms of discharge: Honorable, general, bad conduct, undesirable and dishonorable.

Freed Airmen Land in Tokyo On Way Home

TACHIKAWA, Japan (AP)—Eleven U. S. airmen freed Thursday after 30 months of Communist imprisonment arrived here tonight on their way home.

A luxurious four-engined DC4, formerly Gen. Douglas MacArthur's private plane, landed at the U. S. air base here with the airmen at 10:55 p. m., 10 hours and 40 minutes after leaving the Philippines.

The airmen were taken at once to the Tachikawa base hospital, where they will be housed during a stopover in Japan. They will receive "full physical examinations," expected to last three or four days. The fliers still were flashing the broad grins with which they have greeted everyone since they returned to freedom in Hong Kong Thursday.

Airman Daniel C. Schmidt, Portland, Ore., rushed to a telephone to call his wife, who remarried after he was reported missing in the crash of a B29 in January, 1953.

All Overseas
Air Force officers who had been wondering whether to tell Schmidt about his wife's remarriage decided to break the news to him during the flight here from Clark Field. The airmen's departure from the U. S. base in the Philippines was delayed today because the men, overjoyed at their first hours of freedom, stayed up late Thursday night. All 11 overslept, and the flight which had been scheduled after breakfast was postponed until after noon.

Newsmen were prevented from talking with any of the released fliers, but the airmen appeared to be in good health and good spirits. Lt. John W. Buck of Armistead, Tenn., one of the 11, received his promotion to captain, effective Feb. 15, just before they left Clark Field for Tokyo. Col. John Knox Arnold, leader of the released men, pinned the captain's bars on his shoulder.

The fliers crossed the border to freedom at 12:37 a. m. EDT Thursday at Hong Kong when Peiping made good on its promise to free them after holding them since the end of the Korean war in defiance of terms of the armistice.

Benson Plans Trip To Europe to Sell Farm Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson announced today he is going to Europe this fall in a personal effort to sell some of this country's huge farm surpluses.

He said in a statement that he is making the trip at President Eisenhower's suggestion. He will visit Britain, Italy and Switzerland between Aug. 29 and Sept. 13. The vast quantities of surplus farm stocks in the government's hands, Benson said, "place upon us grave responsibilities as well as serious marketing problems."

To keep his friends abroad, he said, the United States must discuss "our mutual interests in world trade." He apparently referred to the problems which the sale of large U. S. stocks create among some other countries.

(1) Notices

In Memoriam
In memory of Mrs. Emma Peterson, who died Aug. 5, 1954. Our home is sad and lonely. Since Mother's gone away, But we hope to meet in Heaven On that resurrection day. What would I give to clasp Her hand, her happy face to see, To hear her voice and see her smile That meant so much to me. I think of her in silence, Few eyes may see me weep, But many silent tears are shed When others are asleep. Only God knows how we miss you, Dear Mother, As ends this first long year. The Children. *33-1

FUN WITH EDUCATION ON OZARK TOUR

The Ozark Tour rolled again this year, covering 237 miles in Saline, Johnson, Pope and Hardin counties in Southern Illinois. Twenty-three persons either rode the school bus chartered for the occasion or drove their own vehicles for part of the three-day event, which ended last Tuesday. Start and finish were at Harrisburg. In the traditions of the founder, the late L. O. Trigg, Eldorado publisher, off-the-beaten-path places were sought out with the thought they might later be popularized by others. Fun was combined with serious study of the area. The picture above was made during the tour's last stop at an area called by Trigg "Little Garden of the Gods." It is about 25 miles southeast of Harrisburg. Waiting to get assistance to Anvil Rock are, at right, Edgar Dukes, Albion, and Lester Kinkade, Louisville. Human chain consisted of, from left, William H. Farley, Harrisburg, successor to Trigg as tour leader; Edward Bell, Carrier Mills; Waldo Killman, Marion, and Giffrey Hughes, Carleville, executive director of Southern Illinois, Inc. Behind them are Shawnee Ranger Marvin Marshall, Elizabethtown, and his son, Arthur, 12 years old.

NOON MEAL Women of the Pleasant Hill General Baptist Church five miles north of Elizabethtown receive thanks of tour members outside the nearby school of the same name where they served the Monday noon meal. Food included three plates of fried chicken, ham, meat loaf, whole pickles, potato salad, peas, corn-on-the-cob, six kinds of cake, seven pies, four kinds of potatoes, cornbread, green beans, wieners and three kinds of slaw.

CONCEALED CAVE Visitors returning to their bus from inside spacious but little known cave about a mile from the junction of State Routes 146 and 34. Although wide entrance virtually is on the shoulder of the road, it is easily overlooked because of concealment from plant growth. Interior explorations are relatively simple. Stop at the site dramatized visits by such tours over the years to points of possible interest to the general public.

FIELD EDUCATION Farley on truck reads parts of "Ballads from the Bluffs" about nearby historic Bixby cave and cliff, which soon was to be visited. The book is by retired lawyer Elihu Nicholas Hall of Elizabethtown where his son, W. P., is postmaster. Relaxed state of tourists followed meal at Pleasant Hill. Guide to the cave was Hillas Patton, Karber's Ridge, whose great-grandmother, Anne Bixby, is reported to have been thrown from the adjoining bluff by desperadoes in the early 1800s.

TRUMPETING ALONG Tourmaster Farley giving out with a lusty blast of his horn as barge carrying tour bus neared Cave-in-Rock (arrow) where Disney crew (left) is filming a Davy Crockett movie. Farley used the horn frequently in the woods to keep his group together.

SEARCH FOR BROWN'S HOLE Rope and tackle being carried at start of unsuccessful search for Brown's Hole in timber-covered, rolling country five miles northeast of Cave-in-Rock. In the lead were, from left, Ross Miller, Carleville, botanist with the Illinois Historical Survey; Killman and Bell. At right was Irvin Peitman, Southern Illinois University.

URANIUM SEARCH Attractive fluted rock formation in the "Garden of the Gods" getting a quick check with $500 uranium detection device by Fritz Presley, plumbing contractor of Carbondale. He is a brother of Wayman Presley, Makanda, executive secretary of the Bald Knob Christian Foundation, who also was on the tour. The two and an associate have found an area in Southern Illinois with enough of a reaction to justify seeking leases. It was the first time in the tour's history that any instrument of this type had been used.

STEP UP Forty-nine steps leading up 50 feet to turn in foreground being used by Ozarkers to get from the recreation area along Bay creek which is part of Bell Smith Spring. A major attraction is a natural bridge with 150-foot span. The improvements north of Eddyville, are in Shawnee National Forest.

EEDTIME Sleeping on the second night was under Salt Peter shelter bluff one-fourth mile south of Karber's Ridge road and one mile west of State Route No. 1. The bivouac area was reached by a sharp drop down one end of the bluff, which is on the property of Lewis Davis. The same farm once had on it Potts Tavern of legendary fame. Shown, from left, are Hughes, Wayman Presley, Joe Dillon, Christopher, Frank Modglin, Metropolis; Kinkade; Killman, and Bell. Others slept on the ground. The fire (left rear) was for light.

Delays Boost Toll Roads Bond Costs: Stratton

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton said the cost of Illinois' first toll road bond issue today was up 14 million dollars because of an eight months delay in issuing the bonds.

The governor revealed the increase in turnpike construction cost at a Thursday news conference, held after his return from a 12-day New England vacation.

He said the toll highway commission is about ready to sell its first bond issue. The governor blamed the lawsuits which challenged the 1953 Toll Road Act for delaying the toll road program and said the lawsuits were pointless.

"Costs of acquiring right-of-way have gone up 6 million dollars and for construction 8 million dollars," Stratton said, since the original bond sale date of last December.

This would mean a bond issue of about 414 million dollars instead of 390 million dollars for construction of three toll roads in northeastern Illinois.

The governor ruled out any immediate removal or resignation of Evan Howell as chairman of the toll highway commission. On reports that Howell would resign, Stratton said, "I don't think there should be any speculation because we are about to float a big bond issue and I wouldn't think of making any changes on the board now."

Stratton said he hopes to name a successor to Adm. Francis P. Old, who resigned as executive director of the toll highway commission, within the next two weeks.

Stratton said Governors George Craig of Indiana and Goodwin Knight of California will attend the Illinois State Fair after the Governors' Conference. The fair begins a week from today.

There will be no political considerations in choosing the 100 additional men for the state police force, Stratton said. The new policemen will be picked solely on merit, he said.

The governor said a special state police corps to police toll roads will be created, with their pay and expenses coming from toll revenues.

Release of 40 Civilians Delayed By Red Stalling

GENEVA — U. S. efforts to win the early release of 40 American citizens held by the Peiping government were reported bogged down today by Communist stalling. Informed sources said Communist envoy Wang Ping-nan was trying to skip over the civilian repatriation problem and take up the second item of the agenda—problems of common interest.

The meetings themselves were in adjournment until Monday while Wang consults with his government in Peiping on the latest hitch.

Wang and U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson have met together a total of three hours and 15 minutes, half of which time was taken up by translation. Informed sources said they had made little progress.

The source said Red China was stalling on the question of American civilians held by Peiping while seeking some means of winning control over Chinese in the United States.

Informed sources said the Chinese made no secret of the fact that they were most anxious to get on with the problem of arranging a meeting between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Communist Premier Chou En-lai.

Truck Loaded With Sulphuric Acid Overtakes

MORRIS, Ill. — A truck loaded with sulphuric acid overturned on U. S. 6 early today dumping 1,500 gallons of acid over the highway and blocking traffic for hours.

William R. Jackson, 39, Oak Lawn, said the truck he was driving to a dynamite plant at Seneca, Ill., was crowded off the road by an auto. The trailer was torn loose and turned over, spilling 1,500 gallons of its 2,000-gallon cargo over the road.

Four members of a La Porte, Ind., family received acid burns when they halted their car immediately after the accident and got out to investigate. They slipped and fell on the acid-covered pavement and got burns on their hands, feet and legs.

The injured, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harold and their daughters, Carol Sue, 12, and Kay Lynn, 10, suffered acid burns about the legs. All were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, Joliet, and all but Kay were released.

Fumes could be smelled hundreds of yards away. Traffic was rerouted this morning, while firemen dumped powdered limestone to neutralize the acid and washed it away with hoses.

Jackson was unhurt.

Physician Says President's Health Is Above Average

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's doctor said today the Chief Executive "is in better condition than the average man of his age."

The presidential physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McV. Snyder, said the strains of the past few months' heavy traveling and work schedule have not shown in Mr. Eisenhower's health.

Health is one of the year-from-now factors which the President says may influence his decision on running for a second term.

He told his news conference Thursday there would be "no great use" for putting off the decision if he were "such an infallible prophet" that he could speak now for next year "all about the world situation, the domestic situation and my own situation." Elaborating on his own situation, the President mentioned the way he felt, and possibly health "and everything else."

"I have not that gift of prophecy," he declared.

Says Airman's Wife Will Return To First Husband

SODA SPRINGS, Calif. — A neighbor said today Mrs. Una Schmidt will return to her first husband, Airman Daniel C. Schmidt, who was released from a Red China prison.

Mrs. Eleanor Fowler had lived just a short distance away from the trailer occupied by Mrs. Schmidt, her 2½-year-old son by Schmidt, and Alford S. Fine, the lumberjack she married in the belief Schmidt was dead.

Mrs. Fowler said the 20-year-old Mrs. Schmidt was "a very mixed up girl," and had considered leaving both men, to let both court her. But she added she had a feeling "Una may go back to her first husband."

"He is the father of her son," Mrs. Fowler said. "And, well, I just think that is what may happen. That is, if her first husband will want her now."

But Mrs. Fowler said Mrs. Schmidt had not reached a decision when she and Fine hitched their trailer to an automobile and disappeared from the high Sierra camp early Thursday.

"She told me I may just leave here, and take my son with me, and go away from both — then let both of them court me and make up my mind."

State Conciliator To Aid Talks To End Metropolis Strike

METROPOLIS, Ill. — State Labor Conciliator Joseph Hodges was expected to arrive today to help with negotiations to end the three-day old strike at the City Light and Power Co. plant.

Plant officials said Hodges was coming at the direction of the Illinois Department of Labor. Striking members of the International Union of Operating Engineers, picketed the plant. A skeleton crew of about eight men maintained service to the utility's customers.

Plant officials said they had enough coal on hand for about 10 days. But they said railroads were not attempting to move any new coal supplies through the picket lines.

The plant employees went on strike after the City Council refused to recognize their union.

Shawneetown is Popular Place for Marriage Licenses

Gallatin county is a popular place for those desiring to get married, with licenses being issued in the court house at Shawneetown to persons from all points in the United States.

Wednesday a license was issued to Corp. Stephen J. Doerner Jr. and Barbara Sterling, both of Chicago. The young couple told County Clerk Yules Wren that he was to report for overseas duty soon and they drove to Shawneetown to get married. Justice of the Peace William Potter performed the ceremony. They were to leave Detroit today to fly to Paris, France, where Cpl. Doerner will be stationed, they told the officials in Shawneetown.

Also on Wednesday a license was issued to Henry Jack Gillum of

Brothers Set New Speedboat Record On Mississippi

ST. LOUIS — Two Arkansas brothers completed a record speedboat run on the Mississippi river from New Orleans to St. Louis today in a little under 53 hours.

The old record was 56 hours, 56 minutes. The brothers' time was 52 hours, 53 minutes.

For a time, it appeared that Raymond Loetscher, 36, and his brother, Charles, 31, were missing. They had averaged almost 25 miles an hour until they reached Cairo, Ill., Thursday night.

But their average from Cairo to here was only about 11 miles an hour and they were reported overdue early today. They said they had engine trouble most of the way from Cairo.

They said they were stuck on a sandbar north of Ste. Genevieve, Mo., from just before dusk until just before daylight. They shoveled the sand from under the boat by hand, they said.

One engine had suffered a burned-out rod by the time they arrived.

The Loetschers were missing for 16-17 hours and the Coast Guard had a plane searching the river in addition to a radio alert along the route. They were sighted three minutes before pulling up to the waterfront here.

The other license Wednesday was to Donald Eugene Fann, 21, Broughton, and Sharon Kay Creason, 18, Elizabethtown.

Life Goes On As Usual in Boston as Polio Outbreak is Labeled Epidemic

BOSTON — The polio outbreak was described by a federal official as an "epidemic" and by state officials as "not too alarming," but life went on much as usual today in a city that has reported 271 of the state's 699 cases. During the corresponding period last year, there were only 80 cases in the state. There were 22 deaths from the dread disease this year.

City officials took no steps to close city beaches or other gathering places for children or adults. Movie operators reported the usual seasonal slump during hot weather, but the pennant-hungry Red Sox continue to attract capacity and near capacity crowds.

Boston Health Commissioner John H. Cauley advised tourists it was "advisable to delay visits of children to Boston from other sections until the incidence of polio subsides."

Illinois Justice Suffers Heart Attacks

PHELPS, Wis. — Charles H. Davis, a member of the Illinois Supreme Court, was in "very serious" condition here today following two heart attacks.

Davis, 49, of Rockford, was first stricken with a mild attack Tuesday while he worked at his cottage at the Skyway Resort on Big Sand Lake near here.

He was taken to North Woods hospital where he suffered a more severe attack early Thursday. He was then placed in an oxygen tent.

Davis, a Republican, was elected to the court from Illinois' 6th District last Feb. 28.

The Daily Register 25c a week by carrier boy.

tion "is not alarming." "We are running many more cases than usual this year, but the ratio of paralytic to non paralytic cases is about normal," he said. There were 82 cases reported in the state Thursday, a record number in one day. Of these cases, 47 were paralytic, 29 non-paralytic and six not classified.

State Health Commissioner Samuel Kirkwood said Boston would enter a "real epidemic" if the total in the city reached 320, or 40 cases per 100,000 population.

This week Buick soars past the 600,000 mark!

Biggest-selling Buick of all time permits us to make the biggest trade-in deals ever possible!

HERE it is, just past July, and what do you think has happened?

Buick popularity has broken every past full-year record!

That's the gospel truth. And Buick, of course, has had many great years before.

At the beginning of this week, Buick production passed 600,000 cars for the 1955 model year.

That is over 155,000 more automobiles than the full model year of 1954—when we captured third place in total national sales.

It is more than 11,000 higher than the full model year of 1950—when the automobile industry had its greatest year, and Buick established an all-time record that stood unchallenged until now.

It is almost a quarter of a million more automobiles than the full model year of 1941—which was the greatest prewar record Buick ever reached.

In other words, there has never been anything like 1955 in Buick history—when today Buick is building over three cars every minute to meet the public demand.

Doesn't this tell you something important? Doesn't this soaring Buick success mean that you owe it to yourself to see and sample the car that's breaking every record in the Buick book?

Doesn't it mean that you ought to try Buick's mighty V8 power—Buick's great room and comfort—Buick's cruiser-steady ride and roadability—Buick's superb visibility and precision handling ease?

And doesn't it mean you certainly ought to try Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—the world's only transmission with the switch-pitch principle of the modern plane's propeller—and the most spectacular performance advance of the year?

Come in and see us—this week, at the latest—and learn for yourself why today's Buick is the biggest-selling Buick of all time—and how big a trade-in deal we can offer you with this tremendous volume to back us up.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

BEFORE THE BALL IS OVER

Indians, Red Sox Close In On White Sox; Banks Hits Three Homers for Cubs

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

If the Yankees don't snap out of it, that hot five team pennant race in the American league will be reduced to four and the once proud Bronx Bombers will be in the second division.

They have fallen apart since July 4 when they went into that traditional pennant yardstick game leading the league by 6 1/2 games for their biggest margin of the year.

Since then they have won 11 games and lost 18. Now look at what the other pennant hopefuls have done over the same period. Boston has traveled at the fastest pace with 20 wins and 9 losses. Cleveland is almost as hot at 20-11 and Chicago, on top by two percentage points, is 20-12. Detroit's pace is 19-13.

During their prolonged slump the Yankees were 9-3 against the Tigers, who come in for a three-game series tonight, 2-3 against the Indians, 2-4 against the White Sox and 0-2 against the Red Sox. Even the second division teams hold no terror. The Yankees are 0-1 with Baltimore and 4-4 with Kansas City in that stretch, holding an advantage over only one club, Washington, at 3-1.

Yankees Drop to Third
The Indians dropped the Yankees to third place with a 6-3 triumph Thursday on a three-run homer by Vic Wertz, while the rambunctious Red Sox climbed to within two games of the top with another victory over 1-1 Chicago, 7-3.

Even the second division teams hold no terror. The Yankees are 0-1 with Baltimore and 4-4 with Kansas City in that stretch, holding an advantage over only one club, Washington, at 3-1.

The new Galatia high school coach is 25 years of age and a veteran of the Korean war. He has a B. S. degree from Southeastern in physical education and this summer is completing work at the Missouri college in science courses as well as physical education and coach at Galatia.

Indians IN THE Sport Parade

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Indians are healthy, happy, and hot, and Manager Al Lopez is convinced they are now making their "big pennant push."

"For the first time all season, we don't have any injuries except for Bob Lemon," said Lopez with a wide grin.

Lemon will be available for duty again early next week. He's been pitching batting practice and says he feels good.

Cleveland's 6-3 victory over the fading New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium Thursday was their 11th triumph in the last 15 games; and it left them a mere two percentage points out of first place.

Had Share of Injuries
"Yes, at long last I think we're ready," admitted Manager Lopez. "We sure had our share of injuries and sicknesses, though—and important fellows, too, like Lemon, Vic Wertz, Early Wynn, and Al Rosen. Except for Lemon, they are all better now."

Lemon, who pulled a muscle in his hip, has not started a game since July 19. With 12 victories up to that point, the injury has all but ended his chances for his seventh 20-victory season in the last eight years.

But, in the meantime, the Indians' pitching staff has been strengthened by the addition of Sal Maglie, who was purchased from the New York Giants. Maglie is slated to make his first start for the Indians tonight at Washington, and Lopez is confident swarthy Sal will be a winner.

"We'll just have to work with him to find out how he can do us the most good," explained Lopez. "He'll help us."

Rosen Ready Again
Another factor that makes Lopez think the Indians are ready to roll is the fact that Al Rosen is showing signs of regaining his batting eye.

The supposedly slugging third baseman has an anemic .246 batting average, and his 16 homers and 62 runs batted in are sub-par for him. But Thursday gray-haired Al collected four hits in four at-bats against the Yankees, the first time he's had more than two hits in any one game this season.

"Al has been looking good again, meeting the ball sharp and getting his hits," said Lopez. "If he is ready to start hitting the way we all know Rosen should hit, then we will be much better off."

"Yes, I think now we are in shape to make that big push," said Lopez. "We've got a good chance now."

Giants' Infielder Davey Williams To Quit Baseball

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Davey Williams, New York Giant second baseman, will quit baseball on the advice of doctors at the Mayo Clinic here, it appeared today.

The 27-year-old infielder, suffering from spinal arthritis and a possible slipped disk, has been advised to retire because of the possibility of serious complications, it was learned Thursday night.

Williams, under treatment here for several days, could not be reached immediately for comment. But Sid Harman, columnist for the Minneapolis Morning Tribune, quoted Williams as saying he had donned his uniform for "the last time."

Hartman said Williams told him the news "came as a real blow," but as something of a "relief" as well. He quoted Williams as saying he played last year only by "taking pills" to deaden the pain.

a dollar per acre per year after the discovery of oil, plus 12 1/2 per cent of the production.

The leaseholders are also subject to any damage and must put in their roads where the forest service says.

And one thing I found out: There can be double leasing. That is, a fellow may have a mining permit to mine fluor spar and the same area can be leased to someone else to drill for oil and gas.

Most of the mining under government land is for fluor spar in Hardin county and part of Pope, but there is mining of silica in Alexander county. There are permits for mining of coal and applications for mining of uranium, although no prospects have arrived yet for prospecting for uranium on government land.

Right now the money from permits, leases and royalties are going into the Department of Interior, which will transfer the funds into the Forest Service and is credited to the Shawnee National Forest. Twenty five per cent of this money goes back to the counties in the forest in proportion to the number of acres of forest land there is in the county.

In Illinois the past year approx:

Harold and Madge Meade, second. Four animals, any age or sex: Harold and Madge Meade, first, Egyptian farms, second, Harold and Madge Meade, third, and Egyptian farms, fourth, Kay Trotter, fifth, and S. D. Laur, sixth.

Junior group, 2 head, 18 mo. or under, any sex: Egyptian farms, first, Harold and Madge Meade, second, Egyptian farms, third, Harold and Madge Meade, fourth, S. D. Laur, fifth, and Kay Trotter, sixth.

Approximately 50 per cent of the revenue off the forest came from mining permits and royalties and 50 per cent, or around $40,000, from timber sales.

If oil were found the amount from leasing and giving permits would zoom, naturally. And such would be the case, too, if uranium happened to be found of commercial quality.

Big leaseholders for oil and gas drilling in the Shawnee Forest are Phillips Petroleum Co. and the Carter Oil Co. Others either holding leases or who have applied are the John Steele Associates, A. R. Thompson of Mattoon, Glen Ferrell, New Jersey Zinc Co., J. Lee Youngblood, Don Scott, T. G. Glass, Olen D. Sharp and H. W. Morris.

Other permits and applications for mining: Nashville Coal Co., coal; American Aluminum Co., fluor spar; New Jersey Zinc—fluor spar; Victoria Fluorspar Co.—fluor spar; Scorial Thompson—prospecting for fluor spar; Mincerva Oil Co.—fluor spar; M-honing Mining Co.—fluor spar; Lloyd Ginger—fluor spar; G. W. Haynes—fluor spar; and the following for prospecting for uranium—Adolph Edwards, American Aluminum Co. and Don Scott.

Mr. Lee said there is a limitation as to how many acres an individual can secure for mining or drilling. "One person cannot gobble it all up," he stated.

Customs began the custom of flipping a coin dates from the time of Julius Caesar. His head was engraved on one side of all Roman coins. A coin was tossed to decide important questions and, if the head turned up, the person or decision represented by the head was the winner.
